

Tease Free Kids Anti-Bullying Program

The Tease-Free Kids anti-bullying program forges partnerships with organizations in an effort to positively impact our society's children. Our goal is to replace negative behaviors with acceptance, respect, and empathy by "Changing Hearts, One Child at a Time."

We have introduced the Tease-Free Kids program in numerous schools, youth organizations, and summer camps; and we have presented it to key groups within government agencies, namely the United States Department of Education and the United States Department of Transportation.

The Prince George's County School Superintendent, as well as principals, teachers, parents and, most of all, students who have experienced Tease-Free Kids have commended the program for its positive effect on the lives of children and teenagers.

Tease-Free Kids has recently celebrated the first of a series of anti-bullying children's books entitled, "That's Not My Name". We are also proud to announce that we have created the very first, and only, National Anti-bullying Hall of Fame, through which we recognize individuals and organizations for their amazing efforts to eradicate bullying.

Tease-Free Kids Ambassador Program

This program was designed to educate our youth that teasing and bullying will not be tolerated. We will share information with you about bullying and how to deal with it. In turn, we want you to share the information with the youth and adults you know and meet.

Becoming a part of the TFK Ambassador Program is not time-consuming; and there is no cost involved. If you are currently active in pursuing your calling, becoming a Tease-Free Kid Ambassador will further enhance your visibility.

Our Why:

Over 160,000 children miss school every day due to being afraid of issues dealing with bullying. Teasing and bullying not only effect the person being bullied but the bystanders and bully as well.
